Holiday Toll May Hit 500, Trend Shows

By United Press International

The nation's motorists were killing each other at a record rate today and safety officials feared the highway slaughter might be the worst for any Fourth of July weekend in history.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated a death toll of 450 for the 102-hour holiday, said the final count could be more than 500 when the holiday is officially over at midnight Tuesday.

"How big does the toll have to get before people get the message," a council spokesman asked.

A United Press International count at 10 a.m. EDT, 64 hours after the start of the 102-hour holiday at 6 p.m. Friday, showed Good Evening!

Independence Day tomorrow.

We may be in space and all that sort of thing, but we still manage to celebrate the Fourth of July the old fashioned way—parades, picnics, celebrations, homecomings, not to mention balls at the beaches and mountains.

All right, have fun.

But please, for heaven's sake, remember that already we've had two local fatalities attributable to water recreation during the weekend, that already 281 people have died on highways of the nation, that the National Safety Council expects a total traffic toll of 460 before Wednesday morning.

Maybe a shower or so today. But perfect weather which started last Thursday will continue right through tomorrow with nary a cloud in the sky.

We'll tell you how it is. We just quit listening to and reading weather forecasts because they get us more mixed up than we have been. Now, we look at the sky, get the right message, and call the weather ourselves. You listen to Mr. Otto Grupp, Jr.

Maritime strike breaking up and it appears this one should be done within reasonable time.

It also seems Mr. Kennedy may be achieving his purposes without need of using the Taft-Hartley law which he invoked.

And Ernest Hemingway kills himself supposedly while cleaning a shotgun in Sun Valley, Idaho, and the loss to the world is infinite.

Head and shoulders above all contemporaries of the age, Hemingway's three outstanding works will become classics, if perhaps not already so: "A Farewell to Arms," "The Old Man and the Sea," and "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

There's no point in giving the country back to the Indians. They are having enough troubles of their own.

Success often comes to the man with a cool, level head on his wife's shoulders.

Be sure and fly the Stars and Stripes.

Two of the parades, in Southampton and in Fergusville, will get under way soon after the parades form at 9 a.m.

A third parade, which annually attracts thousands of persons from the tri-county area, starts at 1 p.m. in Feasterville in Lower Southampton Township.

Southampton Parade
The Southampton parade will form on Hampton Ave. between New Road and Summit Ave. at the rear of the George C. Shelmire School on Street Road, west of Second Street Pike.

The parade route will be east on Hampton Ave., south on Second Street Pike, east to Rozel Ave.,

Fireworks Tomorrow

A fireworks display which its sponsors claim will be the biggest in Bucks County is scheduled for approximately 9:30 tomorrow evening at St. Michael's Levittown Fair, Levittown Parkway near Route 13.

The display, featuring both ground and aerial exhibits, will be free and is a feature of the church's fair which lasts until Saturday night this week.

north on Cushman Road and west on Street Road back to the Shelmire School.

A baby parade will form at 10 a.m. on the parking lot of the North East Federal Savings and Loan Bank on Street Road, east of Second Street Pike, and join the main parade as it passes that point.

Flag-Raising Ceremonies
Dozens of floats, marching groups, bands and fire companies will participate in the parade which will climax with flag raising ceremonies and the awarding of prizes at the Shelmire school at 11 a.m.

At 1:30 p.m. an all-star baseball game between the all-stars of the local league and the Midget

4th To Have Clear Skies

It'll be clear skies all day long for the Fourth of July tomorrow. That old bug-a-boo, humidity, will be gone, too, George Whiteley, Government weather forecaster in Trenton, said today. The holiday will be clear, pleasant and calm, with a high of about 80 and bright stars in the evening to greet the skyrockets that soar toward them.

Scattered showers this morning were to vanish early in Lower Bucks County. The balance of the day, Whiteley said, was to be clearing and less windy, high in the 80's, fair tonight and low 60 to 65. The heat wave and its humidity of the week-end have gone out to sea.

Whiteley also forecast temperatures averaging about three degrees below the normal of 75 for the next five days, disturbed only by the possibility of scattered showers Thursday and Friday.

Boy, 13, Dies Of Shock

Results of today's autopsy on Gerry McIntire, 13, 118 Plumtree Road, Plumbridge, Levittown, indicate the youth died of shock after collapsing at the Country Club Swimming Pool here.

Bucks County Deputy Coroner John C. Black who performed the autopsy this morning at Lower Bucks County Hospital listed the technical cause of death as, "shock due to tracheo-bronchitis and edema of the brain."

McIntire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Enos McIntire, was pronounced dead at 1:45 p.m. after being brought to the hospital from the pool.

Resuscitation Fails
After collapsing at the pool at about 1 p.m., desperate attempts to restore the youth's breathing by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed.

An LPRA spokesman told last night how the accident occurred.

He said the boy's mother, Mrs. Mildred McIntire, 37, went over to a life guard, Sidney Sklaroff, and told him her son was having difficulty breathing. She and the boy were on the apron of the

$55 Received Today Fund For Schaefer Orphans Hits $835

More than $800 is now in the Schaefer Children Fund as a result of donations received at the Courier-Times over the weekend.

On Friday, monies collected by Reading Railroad employees in their three-state, system-wide campaign totaled $763. The Courier-Times received $17 Friday, making the total $780.

Today, $55 was received, making the total contributions thus far $835.

Killed By Shotgun Blast Hemingway's Death To Be Investigated

KETCHUM, Idaho (UPI) — Authorities investigating the death of Nobel Prize-winning novelist Ernest Hemingway said they would attempt to question his widow today before deciding to conduct an inquest to determine whether his death by a shotgun wound was other than accidental.

Hemingway was killed by a blast from the shotgun in his home Sunday.

News of the death of Hemingway crackedle throughout the world and created a reaction of shock mixed with disbelief. President Kennedy, spending the weekend at Hyannis Port, called Hemingway "one of the great citizens of the world."

The body of the 61-year-old bearded giant of American literature was found by his wife, Mary, with the double-barreled, 12-gauge gun beside it.

"Miss Mary," as Hemingway fondly called her, appeared calm and reported Hemingway had accidentally shot himself in the head.

But four hours later, at 11 a.m., she went into a state of shock and was taken to nearby Sun Valley Hospital and put under sedation.

Will Attempt Questioning
Authorities said they would attempt to question Mrs. Hemingway today before deciding whether an inquest would be held.

An inquest is not required in Idaho unless there is suspicion of foul play.

"I don't know whether there will be an inquest or not," Blaine County Coroner Ray McGoldrick said. "Personally I don't see any reason to hold one. I don't think they can prove anything. Without her (Mrs. Hemingway) as a witness, you could not have much of an inquest. Probably there would not be all of this if it weren't for Mr. Hemingway. He was an important person."

Earlier McGoldrick said he thought little would be gained by conducting an inquest since Hemingway's death appeared accidental.

Girl Drowns In Lake

Four-year-old Kathleen Mann died at the Tullytown Lake yesterday after her limp form was found by a Levittown teenager in three feet of water.

Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Mann Jr., 22 Gable Hill Road, Goldenridge, Levittown, was pronounced dead on arrival at Lower Bucks County Hospital at 3:15 p.m.

Pretty, blond and blue-eyed Kathleen was swimming at the lake, often called Warner's Lake, with her parents yesterday when the accident happened at about 2:45 p.m.

According to Tullytown Borough Police, 14-year-old James Gay, 26 Red Cedar Drive, was walking in about three feet of water when he stepped on something soft.

Attempt To Revive Her
He called James Jones, 42, 4638 "D" Street, Philadelphia, who was nearby. Jones discovered the girl's body in the water, picked her up and brought her to the beach where vain attempts to revive her were started.

Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad member said attempts to save the girl's life included the use of oxygen equipment and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was used for more than a half hour at the lake and during the trip to the hospital.

An unidentified passer-by was the first to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, according to Borough Police Officer John Steen, who was swimming at the lake when the accident occurred. Steen said the man, "worked long and hard to save the girl's life."

All efforts by the Bucks County and Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad, Officer Steen and the passer-by failed.

5 Communities Want Scofflaw

MARYSVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—Earl J. Miller, 31, sought for motor vehicle violations in five nearby communities, today faced a series of court actions.

Miller, of Marysville, was arrested in a Newport club Saturday as he was allegedly boasting to bar patrons of how he managed to avoid arrest.

State police said warrants for Miller's arrest were issued at Camp Hill, Lewistown, Middleburg, East Pennsboro Twp. and Duncannon, all for Motor Vehicle Code violations.

Murray C. Saladow

Murray C. Saladow, 61, of 42 Daffodil Lane, Dogwood, Levittown, died early yesterday morning at the Lower Bucks County Hospital after taking an overdose of a tranquilizer at his home.

Mr. Saladow was discovered in a coma at 6 Saturday morning by his wife, Hilda, and was rushed to the hospital. He died there without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Wilmer S. Trinkle, Bucks County Coroner, pronounced the case a suicide today. Mr. Saladow had been under treatment by a New Jersey physician.

JFK Talks About Strike

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy takes time off from his holiday vacation today to confer with two high-ranking officials of his administration.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg arrived here late Sunday night from Washington and had a morning appointment with Kennedy at the President's summer home where the Chief Executive and his family are spending the long Fourth of July weekend.

The two men were scheduled to discuss the coast-to-coast maritime strike and the possibility of seeking a Taft-Hartley injunction that would temporarily end the dispute for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Dr. James Killian, chairman of the President's board of consultants on foreign intelligence activities, also was scheduled to meet with Kennedy.

Plans for overhauling the Central Intelligence Agency, which has been under study since the unsuccessful Cuban invasion, could come from this meeting although no immediate announcement was expected.

If management and union negotiators in New York have not reached a settlement in the maritime strike by the time Goldberg sees the President, the secretary was prepared to recommend federal action toward an injunction.

Killian's foreign intelligence board was in session in Washington over the weekend and the chairman was due to report to Kennedy on the conferences.

Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred via long distance Saturday night and again Sunday morning, largely over the crisis in Kuwait.

5 Injured In 2-Car Crash

Five persons were injured slightly last night in a two-car collision in which both cars were a total loss at the curve on Route 413, one mile north of the Burlington-Bristol Bridge.

The injured were Lawrence Quigley, 23; his wife, Marietta, 20, and son, Lawrence III, three months, of 501 Wyoming Ave., Croydon, all in one car; Samuel Janico, 36, of 308 Brooks St., Bristol, and Johny Lynch, 22, of 1211 Court J, Bristol Township, in the second car.

Taken in an ambulance of Bucks County Rescue Squad, they were all treated for contusions and abrasions at Lower Bucks County Hospital and released. The accident occurred at 8:20 p.m.

According to Bristol Township police, who investigated, Janico, who was driving south on Route 413, ran off the road onto the soft shoulder. When his car pulled back onto the highway it shot across the highway and collided with one driven by Quigley, who was headed north.

pool between the life guard tower and the fence, he said.

Earlier, she said Gerry had been playing tag in the water, and had taken a big gulp of water, but had gotten out of the water on his own.

Sklaroff summoned another life guard, Edward Budney, who began to give the youth artificial respiration. The boy eventually collapsed, when this failed and was nearly unconscious.

Then, Frank Blocke, 2 Quest Road, Quincy Hollow, Levittown, a Boy Scout first aid instructor, noticed the men gathered around the stricken boy. He began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, it was reported.

Park Manager Daniel Finley, of 26 Geranium Road, Golden Ridge, Levittown, continued the mouth - to - mouth resuscitation. Meanwhile, others summoned the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad, the LPRA spokesman said.

Fast Trip
The squad, which got the call at 1:14 p.m., arrived at the pool by 1:17 p.m., and took the boy to the hospital. During the trip, attempts were made to place an oxygen mask on his face, in order to restore his breathing, but the youth would shove it away, the LPRA spokesman said. When the emergency squad put the mask on his face, he added, blood came out of his mouth. However, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation continued.

The youth was survived by his parents; two brothers, Ronald and John; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Blanche McIntyre, Indiana, Pa.; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wood, Shelton, Pa., and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Hileman, Indiana, Pa.

Hemingway's Death Probe Continuing

al. McGoldrick said pellets went through the author's head from close range.

There were no witnesses to the tragedy on the bottom floor of the two-story cement replica of the famed Sun Valley Inn, and no note was left to indicate Hemingway took his own life.

No Equipment Found

No gun-cleaning equipment — such as rods, oil and pads — were seen in the room where Hemingway, who had survived many wounds in the wars he covered as a correspondent and lived through a plane crash in an African jungle, fell mortally wounded. Long-time friends of Hemingway, who wrote about adventures abroad but died at home, were puzzled by the tragic end of the life of a man whose books were filled with episodes of violence.

They said that when he returned to Idaho Saturday from Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he had undergone treatment for hypertension, he looked thin and seemed "terribly depressed" by the recent death of his close friend, actor Gary Cooper.

These friends said they could not understand why a gun expert would be killed while cleaning such a simple weapon as a shotgun.

One of the friends, who asked not to be identified, said the injuries which Hemingway received in the African crash in January, 1954, were more severe than had been made known.

He said Hemingway, known as a two-fisted drinker at bars he frequented in the many countries he visited, had been ordered by his doctors not to drink liquor and to restrict his intake of wine.

Doctors at the Mayo Clinic said only that Hemingway had been under treatment for high blood pressure.

Recalls Father's Death

Princeton professor Carlos Baker, an authority on Hemingway, recalled that the rugged writer's father, Dr. Clarence Hemingway, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

"His father committed suicide with a shotgun wound and had hypertension and incipient diabetes," Baker said at Asheville, N. C. "Hemingway was hospitalized for hypertension and incipient diabetes."

Hemingway was known for his love and lust of life. He was gored by a bull in Spain, the setting of two of his most widely read novels, "Death in the Afternoon" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls." In Spain Hemingway was regarded as a national hero and the entire country mourned his death.

Hemingway was a lover of sports, especially baseball and boxing. In "The Old Man and the Sea" the novel which was to win for him the Pulitzer and Nobel prizes, he immortalized Joe DiMaggio, then the star of the New York Yankees. At the time the "Old Man" was written DiMaggio was suffering from a foot injury that periled his career and the principal character, the aged fisherman, broods about the baseball player's misfortune.

Girl Falls, Hurt At Swim Pool

Ninette Del Cobo, 7, of 47 Geranium Lane, Levittown, slipped yesterday on the steps at Indian Creek Pool, fell and cut her mouth.

She was treated and released from Lower Bucks County Hospital. A spokesman at the hospital said last night that she was coming up the steps out of the pool, where she fell, knocking two front teeth loose.

The accident occurred at 6:45 p.m. She was taken to the hospital by an ambulance from Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad.

Lawfords Have Girl

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lawford became parents for the fourth time Sunday night when Pat, sister of President Kennedy, gave birth to a 6-pound girl.

A spokesman for Lawford, who flew here from a movie location in Utah, said the baby was as yet unnamed.

Demands Voiced For Nuclear Tests Start

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three senators and a former Air Force chief of staff have called for the United States to resume nuclear weapons tests.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, both members of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said Sunday that underground tests should be resumed at once.

Gen. Thomas D. White, who retired last week as Air Force chief, also called for a resumption of tests. He said this country was "taking very grave risks" by not testing when Russia might be testing nuclear weapons surreptitiously.

Jackson, appearing with Hickenlooper on Keating's weekly TV-radio program, said the tests must be resumed because "there are certain revolutionary devices on the boards that need to be tested out."

Keating and Hickenlooper blamed bad advice from presidential advisers for what Keating called "the present fog-dragging" on a decision to resume tests.

3 Parades

B. Sandlot Sports will be played at the Southampton Youth Center under sponsorship of the Southampton Sports Club.

In Fergusonsville, the parade will form at 9 a.m. at the Youth Center, Hilltop and Willow Aves. The paraders will march along Hilltop Ave. to Ford Road, down Ford Road to Newportville Road, over Newportville Road to Ritter Ave. From there the line of march will proceed to Hilltop Ave., to Sheldon Ave. over to Willow Ave., and back to the center.

Leading the parade will be members of the Bristol Township police force. Others who will participate in the parade will be five fire companies of Bristol Township, a boy scout color guard, Maggio, then the star of the New York Yankees. At the time the "Old Man" was written DiMaggio was suffering from a foot injury that periled his career and the principal character, the aged fisherman, broods about the baseball player's misfortune.

All those women and men of the community desiring to help were urged to meet at the center at 9 a.m. The parade is scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

L. Southampton March
The Lower Southampton parade sponsored by the Feather-ville Optimist Club, will get underway at 1 p.m.

But hours before the parade starts, tots will take part in their own parade at the Lower Southampton Elementary School on Bridgetown Pike. The baby parade will start at 10 a.m. with all children under four years of age eligible to take part.

More than 75 units will take part in the main parade in the afternoon, including dozens of fire companies, six bands, drum and bugle corps, color guards, service organizations, rescue squads, Scout units and dozens of floats sponsored by business and service organizations, fraternal groups and churches.

At 3:15 p.m. prizes will be awarded at the Lower Southampton School and at 3:30 p.m. all-girl drum and bugle corps and other musical units will hold exhibitions.

At 4:30 p.m. there will be an exhibition of precision marching and concert music on the school grounds.

tine Mills, 30 "B", The Prado, Montgomery, Alabama. The "Help The Schaefer Children" fund drive by employees of the Reading Railroad is nearing the $2,000 mark and "many employees have yet to be heard from," Clarence E. Kline, chairman of the campaign, reported today.

Kline, of Flourtown, Pa., foreman of the Reading's car shop at Port Richmond Marine Terminal in Philadelphia, was the immediate superior of Schaefer, Schaefer, a veteran of 10 years service with the Reading, was a foreman car inspector at the time of his death.

The employee fund drive began last Thursday. Kline said that most of the money was collected from workers in the Philadelphia area. He added that "some money" also had come in from outside sources, including $30 collected by the proprietress of a tavern in the Trenton, N. J. area — donated by patrons of the establishment, and $15 received from four persons through the mail.

Anyone desiring to donate to the fund may contribute, he said, by addressing letters to "Help The Schaefer Children Fund," Room 456, Reading Terminal, Philadelphia, 7, and making checks payable to "Schaefer Children Fund." Mill Street businessmen this week end donated a new television set to the Schaefer girls.

Indonesia Gets Red Bombers

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—The first group of Soviet long range bombers purchased under an arms agreement signed last December has been received, the Indonesian Air Force announced today.

Soviet backing of Iraq would pit the Communists against Britain and the United States, and also the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin hinted at the Kremlin's strategy on the Kuwait situation during an extraordinary session of the Security Council summoned Sunday to consider Iraq's claim to the sheikdom. The debate was adjourned after 90 minutes until Wednesday afternoon.

Zorin declined to call Kuwait an independent state. He supported the Iraqi position that the Security Council could not consider a complaint directly from Kuwait but only as submitted by Britain. Iraqi Premier Abdul Karim Kassem last week claimed that Kuwait, one of the richest oil centers in the world, was an "integral" part of Iraq. He made the claim after Kuwait and Britain signed an agreement on June 19, ending Kuwait's long status as a British protectorate.

Kuwait was not represented in Sunday's debate, but delegates from the sheikdom were expected here by next Wednesday.

British Ambassador Sir Patrick Dean charged Iraq with massing troops and tanks on the borders of Kuwait for what appeared to be an imminent invasion. Under the June 19 pact, Britain, which gets 40 per cent of its oil from the Persian Gulf sheikdom, agreed to provide armed assistance whenever it was requested by Kuwait's ruling Sheik Abdullah As-salim As-sabah. British forces poured into the sheikdom during the weekend.

Iraqi Ambassador Adnan Pachachi denied that his country planned to use force to implement its claim to Kuwait. He countered that the landing of British troops in Kuwait was a "blatant act of aggression" against Iraq, and he demanded their immediate withdrawal.

was a three-month-old German Shepherd who crawled home and died at his owner's doorstep. Bowen reported that cause of death in this instance was attributed to "exhaustion" according to a veterinarian's report.

Tranquilizer darts are widely used in stockyards to calm runaway steers and by wildlife specialists in handling deer and larger animals.

No Collection Of Trash On '4th'

There will be no trash collection in Bristol Borough tomorrow, the Fourth of July.

The next regular collection in the third and fourth wards, normally covered on Tuesdays, will be Friday. Twice-a-week collection will resume for those wards next week.

Main Figure In Overthrow Takes Charge

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yong was replaced as chief of the Republic of Korea's ruling military junta today by Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hi, reported to have been the main figure behind the May 16 overthrow of the government.

A statement of Chang's resignation was read to newsmen by ROK army Col. Chong Yun, official spokesman for the junta which calls itself the Supreme Council of National Reconstruction.

It said Chang had quit both as chairman of the council and as chief of the cabinet or premier. Shortly afterward the jobs were filled by two men.

Pak was appointed chairman of the all-powerful council and former Lt. Gen. Song Yu Chan was appointed cabinet chief.

Col. Won flatly denied a report published in Japan that Gen. Chang had been placed under arrest. He said, however, that he did not know what was in prospect for Chang.

Chang had been the chief spokesman and nominal leader of the military revolt which seized power in South Korea May 16.

He was head of the military revolutionary committee, the chairman of the supreme council and chief cabinet officer, or premier.

However, many Koreans considered the real power behind the takeover was Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hi, former assistant commander of the 2nd ROK Army.

(According to a report published in Japan, Gen. Pak arrested Gen. Chang and disarmed his bodyguard, which consisted of about a platoon of military police.)

U. S. Maj. Gen. Hamilton Howze, outgoing chief of the Korean Military Assistance Advisory Group, had been scheduled to pay a farewell call on Gen. Chang today but the meeting was canceled without a reason being given.

The statement read by Col. Won quoted Gen. Chang as saying he was resigning because it was time for him to do so.

Holiday Toll

297 persons had been killed in traffic.

The overall accidental death count: Traffic 297; Drowning 19; Planes 2; Miscellaneous 61.

Total 479

California counted 27 dead in traffic, Texas 17, New York and Ohio 16 each, and Nevada 13.

The worst previous Fourth of July traffic record was 491 killed during a similar four-day holiday in 1950. During a similar non-holiday weekend, 370 persons would have died in traffic accidents, the safety council said.

"It becomes more and more apparent that the nation is literally speeding toward a new all-time high for a Fourth of July holiday traffic toll," the council said.

The weekend was only hours old when 11 persons died in a head-on collision near Las Vegas, Nev. The crash wiped out three generations of a vacationing California family.

Five persons were killed in a two-car crash near Safford, Ala., Saturday night.

At about the same time, a head-on crash near Parris, Calif., snuffed out four lives. One of the cars was filled with youths returning from a wedding party.
